INTRODUCTION

A stakeholder is a person, group or organization that has an interest in an organization, because they are affected by its operations or can affect its operations. Stakeholders have an impact on every organization, public or private sector – some are internal, others are external, but the higher priority stakeholders must be engaged, their expectations understood and strategies developed, planned and implemented to recognize and address their concerns. All groups of stakeholders must be recognized and treated equitably, as part of good governance. Stakeholder management involves both hard and soft skills, with some understanding of human nature, culture and communications added, finished off with the ability to influence and negotiate with integrity. This Stakeholder Management training course will introduce you to the relevant tools and techniques, as well as a leading standard, that will help you to engage and manage stakeholders effectively and efficiently. This will include learning the stakeholder management processes, developing an understanding of human behavior and how to influence it, analyzing and planning communication strategies, as well as using the techniques of principled negotiation and influencing without authority, to achieve your goals. This will be achieved with a mixture of short theory blocks, backed up by many interactive exercises and role plays, to help you practice your newly learned skills in a safe learning environment. This Stakeholder Management training course will highlight:

- The first principles of managing stakeholders.
- The stakeholder management process and typical plans/documents.
- Developing communication strategies and plans for successful engagement.
- The key interpersonal skills and an introduction to personality and behavior and their relevance to managing stakeholders.
- The importance of being able to understand the national, regional, corporate and business unit cultures that influence your stakeholders’ behaviors.

OBJECTIVES

At the end of this Stakeholder Management training course, you will learn to:

- Explain the process flow, the processes and key documents involved in managing stakeholders.
- Describe how to analyze the stakeholder environment, identify/prioritize stakeholders and recognize their expectations.
- Create and promulgate communications that assist in engaging stakeholders.
- Demonstrate an ability to recognize how personality and behaviors give an insight into how to best manage stakeholder aspirations and expectations.
- Give examples of different types of culture and the impact it has on your stakeholders' worldview.
- Show how to undertake successful negotiations, using principled negotiation techniques.

TRAINING METHODOLOGY

This Stakeholder Management training course will utilize a variety of proven adult learning techniques to ensure maximum understanding, comprehension, and retention of the information presented. Includes stimulating presentations supporting each of the topics together with interactive trainer lead sessions of discussion. There will also be practical sessions where participants can practice and experience course-related activities. Practical and fun exercises, short video presentations, small group work, and feedback will be used to facilitate learning.

ORGANISATIONAL IMPACT

After the participants return from the Stakeholder Management training course, typical benefits to the organization include

- Lower levels of conflict making people more productive in operational functions.
